Hawks Quindel is focused on teamwork, creating a very collegial atmosphere.

We seek smart, hard-working people who are equally passionate about social justice and serving individuals.

Employees consistently rate the quality of their co-workers as one of the best things about working at Hawks Quindel

Hawks Quindel has a strong culture of supporting employees' interests outside the workplace.

Commitment to diversity

We understand the importance to our employees, our organization, and our community of having a diverse and equitable environment. Because of that we encourage everyone to apply to our open positions but especially individuals with backgrounds that are underrepresented in the legal community, Including: BIPOC (Black, Indigenous, and People of Color), LGBTQ+, and people with disabilities.

We help individuals in the following areas:

- Employment discrimination
- Labor law
- Worker's compensation
- Social security disability
- Short and long term disability
- Wage and hour
- Family law
- Employee benefits
- Personal injury
- Employment contracts
- Consumer law
- Duty disability

As Wisconsin's premier employee-side law firm, our work has provided health care access for transgendered employees, restored compensation and benefits for people with disabilities and work-related injuries, and recovered millions of dollars in overtime pay for employees.

I love working at HQ and am so proud to work alongside my associates and our staff. There is nothing I do not like about the work at HQ and cannot picture myself ever leaving.” —HQ employee

Best possible workspace culture for a law firm. Can't possibly get much better than this.” —HQ employee
